Full Stack Development:

An intensive 12 week course, students will be taken from knowing just a few basics of web development to being fully qualified for junior developer positions. The technical portion of our 12-week core curriculum starts by teaching students all about web/software development tooling. This would include version control, text editors, and shell commands and modern linters to help ensure high-quality code. Students start by learning Markdown. Next students apply modern HTML/CSS to create responsive website layouts. From then on, we focus on JS – DOM interactions, managing collections of data by composing functions, receiving data from an API, and converting a traditional static site into a Single Page Application. After learning how to create and manage a web-page on the front end, students will then learn to create a Node.js CRUD server. They will use this server to manage long-term data storage via MongoDB.

Data Analytics and Python:

An intensive 12-week course focused primarily on learning everything there is to know about analyzing big datasets efficiently.

Students will begin by knowing just the basics of coding and/or data analysis techniques to become fully qualified for a Data Analyst position.

Unit 1 of our program focuses on Python and SQL

Unit 2 takes the Python and SQL knowledge gained in Unit 1 and applies it to large data sets to extract information and explains it in a clear and concise manner. Using Pandas, Numpy, and other data visualization techniques, students will prepare and present a Capstone Project to demonstrate the knowledge gained during the course. Students will also be expected to complete the Python for Everybody Course provided by the University of Michigan to receive a certification.

Cybersecurity and Operations:

An in-depth look at Cybersecurity and Operations from the ground up. The course is taught by professionals in the Cyber community and is broken down into 4 units. Our classes are instructor-led in either a small, in-person classroom or virtual classroom. This program is taught at an accelerated pace so that after just 24 weeks, students can tackle many of the basics needed to start them on a path towards a career in Cybersecurity. Every class will focus on what one needs to know (and nothing they don't).
